

Minnesota should provide broadband to every household in the state. A Broadband Infrastructure Project will provide Minnesota with the fiber optic infrastructure to become the internet capitol of the world. Minnesota should provide a 200Mbps (megabit per second) connection to everyone in the state. We must regard the internet as a basic infrastructure – just like roads and bridges. Everyone must have access to the internet in a knowledge society. Minnesota should make internet access a fundamental right.